New York—WASHINGTON—Paris.

New Dress Fabrics.

FOREIGN and American looms have surpassed themselves in these autumn and winter fabrics. New colors, new weaves, new charm. Rough fabrics for tailored costumes and soft, sheer, clinging materials for dress gowns. How closely the dressmakers and fabric makers work together you will understand better when you see the new dress goods. How one depends upon the other—how the fabrics follow the modes and the modes are dependent upon the fabrics—you will comprehend as you view the draperies. Among the new rough fabrics for tailored suits are:

Basket Cloths, $1.00 to $2.25 the yard.
Two-toned Diagonals, $1.25 to $2.00 the yard.
Scotch Homespuns, $1.75 and $2.00 the yard.
Boucles, $1.75 to $2.00 the yard.
Natte Cloth, $1.00 to $2.25 the yard.
Rough Gray and Black and White Novelty Suits, $1.50, $1.75, and $2.00 the yard.

The New Broadcloths.

Broadcloths are always in favor and always in fashion, for there is nothing which can quite take the place of this most approved of fabrics—nothing that can equal it in the building of rich, regal gowns. Therefore, first and last, broadcloth. Our broadcloths are in a class alone, for we have the best that both foreign and American makers can produce. And the color assortment is more comprehensive and more fascinating than ever.

Prices, $1.50 to $3.00 the yard.

New Cotton Fabrics.

COTTON DRESS GOODS are now in great demand the year round. Each year sees the appearance of new weaves and effects to please the feminine fancy, and the staples appear regularly, but in more beautiful dress than ever before. Our showing this fall is unique, including every desirable fabric and design, at prices the lowest for like qualities.

Duckling Fleece.

An ideal fabric for women's and children's kimonos, wrappers and bathrobes. All the new fall patterns in white, blue, gray, lavender, and black-and-white effects.

27 inches wide, 15c yard.

Kindergarten Cloth.

Kindergarten Cloth is one of the most popular cloths for girls' school dresses and boys' suits. Our showing includes besides the popular plain colors, all the wanted stripes and checks.

27 inches wide, 25c yard.

Popular Staple Fabrics

27-inch Plain and Fancy Outing Flannel, 12½c a yard.

NOTES OF THE STAGE.

The setting of the second act of "Arsene Lupin," showing the drawing-room of a wealthy Frenchman, is said to be the exact reproduction of a drawing-room in a famous old chateau just outside of Paris. The bricks and some of the furniture used in this act were purchased from the owner of this chateau, and are said to represent a considerable outlay of money.

Fred Terry and Julia Nelson arrive in New York this week to appear at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, October 24, in "The Scarlet Pimpernel." The play is by Baroness Orczy and Montague Barstow, founded on Baroness Orczy's novel of the same title. While in America Mr. Terry and Miss Nelson will also appear in "Henry of Navarre." Only a short season has been planned. Mr. Terry will bring with him his own company and the English production.

Superstition apparently is to play no part in the production of Mascagni's new grand opera, "Ysobel," October 13, Liebler & Co. received a cable from their European agents, announcing the departure from Genoa of the company, costumes, and scenery. Miss Abet sails on the Oceanic October 19, and Composer Mascagni and Librettist Hiza follow a week later with their retinue of secretaries and attendants.

Miss Desmond Keller, who plays the leading role in Charles Frohman's production of "Arsene Lupin," recently returned from an extended visit to India, bringing with her to this country a most elaborate collection of Oriental gowns, kimonos, headgear, etc. The duty on Miss Keller's wardrobe, which filled more than a dozen trunks, was close to $1,000. Everything tends to smaller affairs.

ONE-PIECE APRON.
All Seams Allowed.

When it comes to the making of aprons no woman wishes to give them any more time than is necessary to careful workmanship, and, therefore, when a model is offered which is in very few places it has a double attraction. Our illustration shows an apron cut in a single piece. The only seams are those on the shoulders, and there is a small dart under the arm, to allow of fitting the garment. The armholes are large, so as to allow the wearing of any kind of sleeve underneath. The best material for this apron is gingham of a substantial quality. There is also marine cloth, which has an extremely close texture and comes in one-yard width in all the plain colors. The pattern (4830) is cut in four sizes, for ladies from 32 to 44 inches bust measure. To make the apron in the 36-inch size will require 3 yards of material 36 inches wide.

The above pattern can be obtained by sending 10 cents to the office of this paper.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Japanese Ambassador and Baroness Uchida Hosts.

NORWEGIAN MINISTER HERE

H. Bryn and Mrs. Bryn Arrive Today—Date for Wedding of Miss Eleanor Terry and Lieut. Camperio Not Yet Set—Miss Shelby Robinson to Be Married Next Wednesday.

The Japanese Ambassador and Baroness Uchida entertained the Mayor of Tokyo and Mme. Ozaki, who are spending a week at the Shoreham, at dinner last evening. Covers were laid for eight and included the members of the embassy staff now in the city. The baroness had Mme. Ozaki out for a drive yesterday afternoon, and both wearing the fashionable costume of the American woman, they attracted little attention, except from those who know the baroness.

The German Ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff and their daughter, the Countess Alexandra, who are now in Berlin, will sail to-morrow for New York, and come at once to the embassy here. They have spent the summer at their estate in Saxony.

The new Norwegian Minister, H. Bryn, and Mrs. Bryn arrived in New York on Saturday from Paris, where the former has been counselor of the Norwegian Legation. He will come here to-day to succeed the late Minister Ovid Guge, who died suddenly at White Sulphur Springs, Va., in the early summer.

Vicomtesse d'Azay, wife of the naval attaché of the French Embassy, arrived in New York Saturday and was met there by the vicomte. They went at once to Philadelphia on their way to Washington to get their two young children, who have remained there with a sister of the vicomte in one of the convents during their mother's absence in France.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Terry, daughter of Rear Admiral Silas W. Terry, retired, to Lieut. Philip Camperio, until recently naval attaché of the Italian Embassy, will take place in Washington before Thanksgiving Day. The exact day not yet being set, the ceremony will be performed in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, and will be followed by a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Contrary to the usual case with foreign bridegrooms, Lieut. Camperio is a Protestant. He and his bride will sail for Italy December 1. The engagement, announced last week, was no surprise to the friends of this interesting couple, as it has been known to their friends and suspected by others since last winter.

Lieut. Camperio was transferred from the embassy here in the early summer, and had not intended to return here until spring, when the wedding was to take place. But his sudden designation to accompany the new Ambassador, Marchese Confaloniere, on his journey to this country changed their plans, and the wedding was hurriedly set for next month. The bridegroom's sister, Senora Mayor, of Milan, will come over later for the ceremony, but the aged mother of the bridegroom will not leave her villa, just outside of Milan, for the trip. The bride and bridegroom will go there in December. Miss Terry is one of the most interesting figures in Washington society. She has been identified with it since she was a child, when her father was first made commandant of the navy yard, which post he held for many years.

Miss Terry was presented to society there, and it is said that no social regime at the yard had ever been as brilliant as was that of Mrs. Terry's. After the admiral's retirement, he took his family for a year's travel abroad, and they went around the world, and then purchased a permanent home here. One of Miss Terry's closest friends is the bride of the Greek Minister to the United States, Mr. Coromilas, whose wedding in New London she attended in the spring. Miss Terry was born at Annapolis during her father's station at the Academy. She is a granddaughter on the maternal side of Judge John Thompson Mason, of the Supreme Court of Maryland, and her mother's family is well known and prominent in Baltimore and Maryland society. She spent the summer with her parents, according to their custom, at Narragansett Pier, where she is a belle each season, as she is in Washington.

The date for the marriage of Miss Winifred Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Todd Davis, and Lieut. Richard C. Moore, Engineer Corps, U. S. A., has been set for December 7. The engagement was announced last week.

The marriage of Miss Shelby Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Robinson, of this city, to Mr. William Nowlen Hallock, of Bath, N. Y., will take place on Wednesday in the apartment of the bride's parents at the Woodley. The ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock by Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, rector of St. Margaret's Church, in the presence of the relatives and close friends. A reception will follow. The bride will be attended by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Robert H. Kizer, of Bath, N. Y., and the best man will be Mr. Huntley Gilbert, of Buffalo. Mr. William Kent Lyon, of Bath, will be the groomsmen. Miss Robinson is one of the handsomest brides of the season. She spent last year in New Orleans.

The marriage of Miss Elsie McLean, daughter of Capt. Walter McLean and a niece of Mr. Donald McLean, of New York, to Mr. Paul Cheney Patterson, formerly of Chicago, but now connected with one of Washington's dailies as managing editor, will take place on Thursday. The ceremony will be performed in St. Margaret's Church at 4:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a reception in the home of the bride's parents. The bride will be attended by her cousin, Mrs. Dailiam, wife of Lieut. William A. Dailiam, and daughter of Mr. Donald McLean, recently returned from the Philippines. She will act as matron of honor with Mrs. Charles Day Palmer, daughter of Gen. Luke E. Wright, formerly United States Ambassador to Japan and Secretary of War. Little Miss Margaret Tuttle and Miss Adelaide Tuttle will be flower girls. Mr. Julian Stevens Patterson, of Chicago, will act as best man for his brother, and the ushers will include Dr. Ralph Walker, Mr. Dowell, U. S. N.; Mr. Theodore Chapman, of Chicago; Mr. Walter Drayton, of Towanda, Pa.; and Mr. Wallace Donald McLean, of this city. The bridegroom will entertain the bridal attendants at a theater party this evening, and the bride will entertain them at supper on Wednesday evening, following the rehearsal at the church. Otherwise, the bride and bridegroom are accepting no invitations.

The last wedding of the week will be that of Miss Anna Louise White, daughter of Commander W. W. White, U. S. N., and Mrs. White, to Lieut. Hiram L. Irwin, U. S. N., which will take place at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening in the home of the bride's parents. A reception will follow at 9 o'clock. The bride will be attended by Miss Anne Bryan, daughter of Capt. Benjamin Bryan, of the League Island Navy Yard, as maid of honor. Lieut. Rice will be the best man, and the ushers will be Lieut. Church, from Annapolis, and Ensign Robert L. White, brother of the bride. The bride's parents will entertain the party at supper on Friday evening quite informally, and she is accepting no invitations for other entertaining.

The marriage is announced of Miss Eva Wagonfield, of Brookland, to Mr. George Sauter Saturday morning in St. Anthony's Church by Rev. James Krug. The bride and bridegroom are now on their wedding trip North.

Mrs. Russell B. Harrison and her daughter, Miss Martha Harrison, a debutante of last season, returned yesterday from Charlottesville, Va., where they went the middle of last week to attend the autumn ball and the seniors' ball at the University of Virginia. Mrs. Harrison and her daughter, with the former's only son, William Henry Harrison 2d, will take possession of their new home, 228 Q street, the first of November.

Mrs. Philip Sheridan and her three daughters, who have spent the past five months abroad, have arrived in Paris, where they will remain for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, of this city, who are abroad for their annual autumn visit, are in St. Petersburg.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Dickinson and their party, who are in Berlin, are being elaborately entertained. They lunched with the American Ambassador and Mrs. Hill at the embassy. On Friday evening they were the dinner guests of the military attaché of the embassy and Mrs. Sharple, the United States Ambassador and Mrs. Hill and the Prussian minister of war being among the other guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Beale Bloomer, the latter formerly Miss Katherine Clabough of this city, have returned from their summer visit in Europe, and will spend the winter with Mr. Bloomer's step-father and mother, Paymaster and Mrs. Samuel Lawrence Heap, in the new house in K street, which they have recently purchased and improved.

Mr. and Mrs. George Howard have returned from Europe. Mrs. Howard and her son went over early in the summer to visit Mr. Howard's father, the British minister to Denmark. Mr. Howard joining them there a month ago to return with them.

Capt. Verge E. Sweeney, Medical Corps, U. S. A., and Mrs. Sweeney, who have been guests at the Cohran's for several weeks, have returned to their home in Evanston, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hodges, of 1223 Thirteenth street, have returned to this city after a two months' visit in the North.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Alsworth, of Seattle, Wash., who are making a tour of Canada and the East, are guests at the Imperial during their visit in Washington.

The Misses Hull, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Hull, went to Annapolis Saturday to attend the hop.

Miss Sue Courts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Courts, has returned to Washington after spending the latter portion of the summer in New York.

Giblet Soup.

The giblets from a chicken are to be washed and simmered in one pint of water until tender. This is best done as soon as the fowl are cleaned. Dice the giblets, add a few dried boiled vegetables and a spoonful of boiled barley, nearly a pint of stock, and the water in which the giblets were cooked. Season to taste, simmer for ten minutes, and serve with fried croutons.

GIVE TARIFF FIGURES

French Rates Translated in Our Money and Weights.

MANY DUTIES ARE READJUSTED

Bureau of Manufactures Declares that More Minute Classifications, Higher Schedule, and Wider Differences Between General and Minimum Rates Are Features.

The Bureau of Manufactures has completed a translation of the French tariff, all tariff rates being given in United States money and weights, as well as the French units. Much practical information concerning customs formalities is included, and Franco-American tariff relations during the last twenty years are discussed in the introduction.

The statement is made that the new French law readjusted the duties on about as many commodities as the Payne-Aldrich bill changed in the United States, but, unlike the latter act, the French law did not repeal preceding tariffs.

The bureau states that more minute classifications, higher duties on manufactures, and wider differences between the general and minimum rates are the chief features of the 1910 tariff law. Continuing, the bureau says:

"On the great majority of articles the general rates, usually about half as high again as the minimum, are applied on imports from the United States and Porto Rico. The minimum was granted to American imports on twenty-five paragraphs of the French tariff under former treaties, confined entirely to farm products, meat and lard, and mineral oils. The new law added sixty-eight paragraphs on which the minimum was conceded. In these articles, imports from the United States are admitted at rates as low as from any foreign country, but no assurance has been given that the actual rates will remain unchanged.

"By a unique arrangement, France also provided that the former general rates on certain articles shall continue in effect as regards imports from this country. The result is that on such articles the United States enjoys a kind of intermediate tariff, the rates of which cannot be raised.

"Certificates of origin issued by a French consul are necessary to obtain the reductions in duty provided. Shipments, moreover, must be direct. The new concessions embrace the balance of the imports, except 3 per cent, which still are subject to the maximum rates.

"The concessions made, which affect little more than one-tenth of the paragraphs in the French tariff, thus cover the products that are shipped in largest quantities from the United States to France."
